Is To Build A Union still available? If it is could you please send 10 copies to us & bill us.

The Chicago Branch IWW had a small organizing drive last summer in Michigan. Our purpose was mainly to investigate organizing possibilities but we ended up with a small strike which won some improved camp conditions. This summer we are going to try again with more people and hopefully a store front in Benton Harbor. We want to build up the basis for a real agricultural workers union.

I found your To Build a Union the most useful thing out on the difficulties of organizing, and would like to get copies into the hands of potential organizers. I am very interested in what other groups are attempting in agriculture — could you suggest ones to write too?

Yours for an organized world,
